SUDDEN DEATH .- Mr. Henry Octlen, an old from disease of the heart. He had eaten his dinner and was in apparent good health when the stroke came without warning. Ity his industrious and frugal habits Mr. Octjen had acquired a nice property, and was among our most respected German fellow-citizens. He was fifty-six years of age. and had been a resident of Charleston for thirty four years. He leaves a wife and four children.

AN INVOLUNTARY BATH .- Early yesterday morning, white a benighted individual was tortuously wending his way homeward, he encountered the Artesian Well troughs, in Wentworth street. The sight of so much water evidently made him sea sick, and a sudden lurch destroying his equilibrium, he was placed hors du com bal at the bottom of the trough. The situation was embarrassing, but the ducking proved mor efficacious than the famous "hock and soda, and he resumed his homeward tramp a wetter and water should be taken with moderation.

ACCIDENT TO THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.-The heavy rain of Friday night caused some damage to the ceiling of the Opera-House, a portion of the fresco work having been saturated with water which caused it to fall to the ground. It appears that a skylight over the third tier had not been glazed but only covered by a tarmanlin. This was fortunately confined to the scroll work and can be easily repaired. If the dome had been in-jured, it would have been a much more serious matter. It is proposed, notwithstanding the ac-cident, to have the interior scaffolding removed by Tuesday night, so as to allow the upholsterers

A Constable Outwitten.—The constable whose mishaps, in pursuit of an escaped prisoner, have been already chronicled, was again made the victim of misplaced confidence. A few days since, he traced his man to the South Carolina Railroad depot, and then and there seized him. The game was snared and all seemed serene, but the wily prisoner proved again to be too smart for his captor, and raising his stick he tapped the with a vim, and the constable, wilting under its effects, relaxed his hold and the quondam prise er measured off the ground on a lively pair of legs. The constable registered a huge outh that he won't be outwitted the next time.

PILOTAGE.—The Philadelphia Ledger says At a meeting of the vessel owners and captains association of Philadelphia, on Wednesday, the attention of the board of directors was called to filegal charges for pilotage in Charleston harbor. S. C. It is the custom there to charge full pilot age at very high rates against all vessels, whether and a resolution passed instructing the captains of all vessels belonging to the association that are enrolled and licensed in the coasting trade not to pay pilotage on arriving at or departing from the port of Charleston unless a pilot renders service. As litigation may result, it was also resolved that the association will defend all suits arising under

TO SUBSCRIBERS FOR CHINAMEN, -The Savannah Republican says: "After a consultation with the sub-agent at this place, we feel it to be our duty to advise those who have contracted with Mr. Joseph, of San Francisco, for Chinese labor out to go on and hire other hands as usual. We do not wish to be understood as reflecting u the integrity or good faith of Mr. Joseph or his company—and be has stipulated for no particular view of the great distance and the short time ntervene, that the laborers cannot be got here in time to put in the coming crop. We believe they will be here during the spring or early summer, and, come when they may, if subscribers are already supplied with satisfactory force, there will e no difficulty in getting either class of laborers off their hands for the remainder of the year."

LECTURE OF THE RIGHT REV. BISHOP LYNCH A large and attentive andience assembled last evening, in St. Patrick's Church, to hear a lecture from Bishop Lynch on the "Lippefaction of the blood of St. Januarins." The Bishop gave his audience a vivid description of a visit to Italy, with full details of the miracle as witnessed by himself. He depicted in glowing colors the trials of the saint, and his mariyrdom about lifteen centuries ago, and closed with a life-like picture of Naples and the church where the miracle oc the 19th September, 305, and every year since, at the same date, his blood, which was carefully preserved, is said to be liquified. The thishop kept the attention of his audience to the close of the lecture. It was given to defray the debt of the realize a handsome amount. The audience was comprised of every denomination, and numbers who could not obtain seat

WALHALIA.-The Oconee Courier gives this sketch of the Village by the Ridge: "There is no need of idleness here. Work, work, is the great want. There is activity in every branch or industry. Buildings are going up from the depot to the north end, and the saw and hammer of the carpenter are busy. Old buildings are being refitted and repainted, adding to the appearance of the place. The forge of the smith is not allowed to get coid. Everybody that wants employment is busy, and the loafer, the drone of society, finds no associates. Waihalla is growing and spreading out her arms, inviting trade. Already in area and inhabitants, she is ahead of her sister towns of the mountains. Her business houses are more numerous and active than in any up-country town. A generous competition governs in every branch of trade, giving the farmer the best prices for his produce and the cheapest market to sup-ply his wants. New corn opened in this place at $1 per bushel, old corn is still selling at $1 50. Cotton was sold here last week at 23% to 24 cents.

MONTHLY CONCERT OF THE ST. JOHN'S T.C. THERAN CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL.-The exercises of this school were agreeably diversified vesterday afternoon by speeches from some of the pupils and singing by the school in concert. The church was crowded, the classes occupying the pews on the centre aisle, the occupants of which were forced to find accommodation elsewhere. Speeches were made by the following young gentlemen, all of whom acquitted themselves handsomety: St. Clair West, "Perseverance;" Herbert Smith, "Appeal for Teachers;" Julian Smith, "The best that I can do;" Charles von Santen, "It is more blessed to give;" Christopher Tidemann, "Childhood's Home," The young speakers handled their sub-jects like born orators, and only the sacredness of the place and the recollection of the day prevented their receiving their meet of applause. The ex-ercises were varied by singing, in which the little choristers showed great proficiency. An address, suitable to the occasion was delivered by Rev. Dr. Hicks. The Sunday school is under the superintendence of Mr. Robert Chisolm, and is in a flour

BOWEN AND MACKEY-ALMOST A BLOODY

ENCOUNTER .- About two o'clock on Saturday afternoon, when business men were preparing to go to their dinners, an incident took place which varied, in a rather agreeable manner, the duliness that reigned around the historic corners of Broad and Meeting streets. Ex-Alderman Thomas Jefferson Mackey was standing near the guard-bouse conversing with Omcor Nipson and Rounds-man Read, when his eagle eye espied the Honorable Christopher Columbus Bowen coming from the direction of the Fireproof building. Promptly crossing over to the Courthouse corner, Mackey confronted Bowen, whom he accosted in language decidedly more forcible than elegant. He said that having heard that he (llowen) had expressed a desire to meet him in reference to the letter pubished in THE NEWS of Saturday morning, he (Mackey) had come to reassert to his face the charges that had been made in print. And this he proceeded to do in a deliberate and not very genteel fashion. monologue (for Bowen aterspersed with spicy allusions to the Honorable gentleman's eventful career, and was accompanied with gestures which might fairly be set down as unmistakable symptoms of an over-dos of morphine. Bowen, however, seems to have neglected to take his dose of the pugnacity-inspiring drug, and muttering something about not wishing to soil his (not over-clean) hands by touching his assailant, made a desperate and Courthouse entrance. Once within its sheltering portals, Bowen rapidly dispersed, while th vengeful Mackey was left out in the cold.

CHOLIC, CHOLERA INFANTUM, DYSENTERY,

CONTAINS NO ANODYNE. RUSSELL'S SOOTHING CORDIAL is offered to the public with an absolute guarantee against al cates:

Mr. J. B. RUSSELL, one of our careful and intelligent Pharmaceutists and Apothecaries, has submitted to my examination the formula for the preparation of a Soothing Cordial prepared and vended by him.

It affords me pleasure to express a favorable opinion of its sate and efficient daptation to the particular cases of the diseases of children, which it is designed to relieve.

articular cases of the case of the designed to relieve.

E. GEDDINGS, M. D.

Having had occasion to prescribe RUSSELL'8
Soothing Cordial in severe cases of Bowel Complaints in children and delicate Ienasles, I have been much pleased with its effects. I consider it a valuable medicine in all cases, in which it may be advisable to avoid the use of anodyne, and particularly for family use, as it is perfectly safe.

W. T. WRAGG, M. D.

CHARLESTON, S. C., 1882.

Dear Sir—I have used your Soothing Corollal for Diarrheea in teething children, and find it a very excellent preparation. It has a great advantage over most preparations of the kind in containing no Optim or Narcotie.

When these are required they can be added in proportions applicable to the case.

I therefore can recommend its use in the affections for which it is designed.

Respectfully yours. Ac.

Respectfully yours, &c., T. L. OGIER, M. D. CHARLESTON, S. C., 1868.

I certify that I have most successfully used RUSSILL'S Soothing Cordial in the Summer Complaints of infants. He has fully exhibited the ingredients of his remedy, and the tedions method of preparation. I recognize the prescription—containing no anodyne whatever—as a most safe and efficacious one in bowel affections of children. When much pain or restlessness attends the affection, doses of Paregoric can be added to the prescribed doses of the Cordial according to the age of the patient. The compound, though more often, acts in an efficient manner without any addition of anodyne.

In the Diarrhea of the aged, in increased doses, it is of great value as a remedy; never disagroeing with the stomach—increasing appetite, improving digestion, and acting as a slow but offing with the stomach—increasing appetite, in-proving digestion, and acting as a slow but offi-cient astringent agent.

MOUNT PLEASANT, S. C., 1868. Mr. J. B. Russell:

DEAR SIK—I have used your Soothing Cordin for children extensively in my practice, and most cheerfully testify to its merits. I have found it children.

Its freedom from anodyne of any kind recommends it as a perfectly safe preparation in the hands of mothers and inexperienced nurses.

Very respectfully, &c.,
